Developing Partnerships to support Literacy and Essential Skills

This tool is designed to help you develop effective partnerships for supporting Literacy and Essential Skills (LES). It offers a simple four-step process to help you get started and includes tips for building and maintaining successful partnerships.

How can you benefit from partnerships?

- Lower investments that are required by each partner (e.g. costs can be shared)
- Facilitate the sharing of knowledge of new trends, best practices, etc.
- Enhance the success of LES initiatives
- Provide access to resources that may not otherwise be possible (e.g. funding)

The Office of Literacy and Essential Skills has developed a series of free and easy-to-use tools to help address LES challenges. The Literacy and Essential Skills Toolkit is a good starting point to help you learn more about LES and develop an LES training program. Tools are categorized into three key areas: assessment, learning, and training supports. Choose the tools most relevant for you by downloading them from our website, or ordering copies from our warehouse.

Tips for successful partnerships

- Identify common goals (e.g. to improve the oral communication skills of information technology staff so that they can provide better client service).
- Share information and keep lines of communication open to help demonstrate commitment and build trust—two critical ingredients for success.
- Define the scope of the partnership. Establish timeframes and responsibilities so that partners know what is expected of them.
- Support from senior management will encourage other staff members to participate in the partnership.
- Try to understand the unique challenges faced by other partners (e.g. slower decision-making processes). Keep in mind the benefits of working together and that it improves over time as the partners get to know one another.
- Celebrate achievements by sharing success stories and promoting best practices.

STEP 2: IDENTIFYING POTENTIAL PARTNER(S)

Before contacting potential partners:

- Determine internal support for partnerships with other organizations
- Confirm the level of interest and awareness of partners with respect to LES
- Assess what potential partners have to offer in terms of knowledge, skills and/or resources

As you contact potential partners, use the chart below to record important information.

STEP 3: BUILDING A SUCCESSFUL PARTNERSHIP

Once you have identified potential partners, the checklist below can help lay the foundation for a successful partnership.

- Meet with potential partners to explore common goals (ensure goals are realistic and clear)
- Agree on roles, responsibilities and level of commitment
- Discuss possible challenges and how they might be dealt with
- Establish basic ground rules with partners (e.g. how information will be shared, how work will be coordinated, confidentiality)
- Work with partners to identify activities and tasks to help achieve training objectives
- Identify responsibilities and timelines for activities
- Establish a plan for communicating the activities and progress

STEP 4: MAINTAINING THE PARTNERSHIP

A positive partnership requires ongoing effort. The checklist below can help the partnership grow.

- Communicate with partners regularly
- Help each partner understand the needs and challenges of other partners
- Establish a process to discuss and negotiate issues or challenges
- Monitor progress: Are partners achieving what was expected?
