Best Practice Notes:

Adult learners find prolonged focus on a single topic challenging. All group learning sessions deliberately contain content from more than one curriculum area (Module).

Adult learners with Level 1 and Level 2 skills (IALSS Levels) find working for long blocks of time challenging. All activities are presented in blocks of no longer than 15-20 minutes.

Activities include a variety of learning styles.

Activities include group and individual work.

Where learners do not yet possess the level of Essential Skills required to participate fully in all aspects of an activity it is important that they continue to feel a sense of belonging to the group. All activities start and end with an oral component so that all learners can affirm their roles as valued participants.

If possible, nutritious snacks (fresh fruit) and drinks (juice, milk, fruit tea) should be provided.

MODULE 1 ACTIVITY

Qualities for Success

RESPONSIBILITY

In this learning activity, participants discuss a positive quality, in this case 'Responsibility', that impacts success in the workplace. Participants make connections between their attitudes towards various qualities and their experiences of success in a variety of contexts. The activity is repeated as a number of qualities are explored throughout the program.

Qualities for Success

Whatever we want to do in life, we'll be more successful with positive attitudes and qualities. It's been proven that positive qualities help us learn faster, get and keep jobs, get along with others, solve problems, encourage others and be happier in life. Everyone has these abilities. Sometimes we may need reminding to use them but if we use them, they get stronger. There are hundreds of qualities. Literacy Victoria's WLES group is learning about one each time they meet. This activity sheet aims to help us share some of our ideas. We invite everyone to join us in finding ways to make these qualities part of our lives.

Quality of the Day—Responsibility

Responsibility is <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Being trustworthy • Keeping to your agreements • Being on time • Standing up for yourself • Standing up for others • Standing for what is right • Following through • Knowing your limits • Asking for help if you need it • Listening carefully • Following instructions • Planning ahead • Doing your best 	Responsibility is not <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Taking on more than you can do • Taking over from other people • Trying to look important • Doing a job without training • Talking for other people • Refusing support • Blaming other people What jobs require responsibility? When in your life have you needed to show responsibility?

Qualities for Success Pilot 2, 2011

What would responsibility look like if . . . ?

My will shall shape the future.
Whether I fail or succeed shall be no man's doing but my own.
My choice; my responsibility; win or lose, only I hold the key to my destiny.
—Elaine Maxwell

I. Think about these situations.
What is a responsible thing to do?

- After lunch you notice that a co-worker has left their cell phone on the table in the staff canteen.
- At a staff meeting you are asked a question but you don't know the answer.
- You know that someone in your building has just had surgery and you have not seen them for a day or so.

- You made a mistake in reading your shift schedule and now you can't take your son to a game this week like you promised

2. Name two people who handle responsibility well. How do they show it?

3. What is one time that you took responsibility for your actions?

4. Next time you see someone who is acting responsibly, tell them you noticed, and tell them you admire them for it!

Affirmation:
I am responsible. I keep my promises and people know that I tell the truth. If I need help, I ask for it; if I make mistakes I own them. I don't.

Why be responsible?

- How does taking your responsibilities seriously help you?
- If you take responsibility for yourself, how does this help others?

Why be responsible?
What might happen if you are not?
List two reasons (or more!)

- _____
- _____

Responsibility

Taking responsibility for small life decisions can make a difference in how people deal with big issues that can cause stress.	Can you really relax properly if you have things at the back of your mind you feel you need to deal with? So what is the opposite of responsibility?	Is it freedom from work; being at ease; rest without worries? People who deal with their responsibilities have true leisure time. You can too!

MODULE 5 ACTIVITY

Snapshot N

In this activity participants explore vocabulary commonly used in discussing numerical information. Its focus is participation by all learners and building confidence in appropriate usage through group discussion. Participants confirm their understanding of specific vocabulary and reflect upon the numeracy skills discussed. Using the Snapshot self-assessment tool, participants recognize the vocabulary skills they already possess and build on this positive list.

MODULE 4 ACTIVITY

Sort and Predict

In this activity, participants review and enhance their vocabulary knowledge and planning skills. It is deliberately short in nature (15 minutes) and designed to be repeated. As participants become familiar with the format of the activity, facilitators can encourage a greater degree of self-assessment. Participants discuss a list of vocabulary items linked to a module theme and linked to a specific organizational type, in this case, categories. The activity is centered on active listening skills and group learning. Groups explore vocabulary usage in various contexts and compare the strategies used by others. Participants make personal notes of the vocabulary and strategies they find useful.

MODULE 5 ACTIVITY

Make It Count 1 (MIC 1)

In this learning activity, participants explore competencies through individual and group learning activities involving calculations with money. Participants use authentic workplace documents requiring computational work to two decimal places, and rounding to two decimal places. Activities are included for participants who require an introduction to basic calculator functions. Participants consider the numeracy and document use skills required in workplace situations involving money, and when and why specific types of documents are required in the workplace.

MODULE 1 ACTIVITY

'A Dream That Walks' 4

In this activity participants continue to explore ways in which they can plan to achieve their personal and employment goals. With the aid of a structured workbook, participants reflect on different aspects of their lives: planning their time, working with others, housing, money, health, parenting, food, transport, dealing with the law, and shopping. Participants identify which of these items are significant barriers and prioritize changes to be addressed. Participants are encouraged to recognize that these aspects of their personal lives significantly impact their employment goals. Participants are supported to carry out a 'reality check' in relation to their stated personal and employment goals. Workbooks other than those suggested can be used, but it is strongly recommended that one resource is used for all participants in order to promote confidence and create clarity in developing organizational skills.

MODULE 1 ACTIVITY

Plan and Review

This activity, repeated at the end of each learning session, requires learners to organize their portfolios. As different topics are introduced throughout the program, learners file learning materials under different Module sections. Learners are actively supported to take ownership of their portfolios. It is recommended that portfolios used are enclosed (zip fastening) so that documents are less likely to be lost. The activity also includes use of a checklist tool that requires learners to practise document use skills as they record attendance and reflect on their learning experiences. The feedback document requires participants to consider whether they found the learning activities scary, confusing, boring or enjoyable. Through repeated use of the document, learners become comfortable with the concept of providing feedback regarding their perceptions of learning activities, and benefit from participating in open exchanges of opinion that more closely resemble workplace feedback scenarios.
