“Literacy– Food for Life”

September 8th, 2012

International Literacy Day Tool
Kit for Schools and Families

The Saskatoon Literacy Coalition Inc.

What is International Literacy Day?

Each year, September 8th marks the celebration of literacy and learning internationally. ILD was first declared by UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) in 1965 and continues to be a day to raise public awareness about those who struggle with the skills to reach their goals.

What is Literacy?

“Literacy is more than reading and writing– it is about how we communicate as a society. It is about social practices and relations, about knowledge, language and culture.”

United Nations

“Come join in the celebration and help promote literacy in our community. Your presence and interest do make a difference.”

Special thanks to Yvonne, Dana Lee, Mary Lou and Maureen from the Public School Division who provided valuable ideas for this kit.

How can we celebrate International Literacy Day?

- Bring your family or encourage your classroom to attend the Saskatoon Farmers Market for the festivities on Saturday, September 8th from 10 a.m. till noon.
- Have a local author visit. Bring in guest readers or storytellers.
- Discuss why it is important to be able to read. What challenges would you face if you couldn't read?
- Make a bookmark, decorate a book bag or design a poster about literacy.
- Host a book swap between families, classrooms, schools or businesses in your community.
- Send books with fun activities home to families.
- Highlight book programs with a pancake breakfast or ILD kickoff.
- Share your favorite book with friends and relatives. Find out what are their favorite books.
- Host a “camp out and read” event.
- Host a contest to write a song, poem or rap about literacy. Try a popular game show (Idol competition, Who wants to be a millionaire?...)

More ways to celebrate International Literacy Day

- Visit your public library.
- Interview a grandparent or friend on how technology has changed.
- Partner with a school in a developing country and become pen pals.
- Develop a board game and organize a games night.
- Bring in a guest speaker from a local literacy organization.
- Create a crossword puzzle based on your school's website.
- Follow a recipe.
- Perform a skit or put on a puppet show.
- Make a map of your neighborhood.
- Read We are all born free : the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in pictures. by Amnesty International or visit www.un.org/cyberschoolbus/humanrights/resources/plain.asp
- Create a secret code and have a family member decipher it.
- Use student quotes over the school intercom, belief statements about literacy and quotes from famous Canadians who have faced literacy challenges.
- Find out how International Literacy Day is celebrated in other communities by visiting: <http://events.nald.ca/>
- Send us your ideas on how your school or family can celebrate International Literacy Day!

Making Books Come Alive!

Parents and caregivers:

There are many family literacy programs going on in your community and at your public library. Ask your child's teacher for more information or call your local literacy organization for details.

Find out what stories your children enjoy and build on them.

- Ask questions to encourage discussion about a book, magazine article or tv show.
- Role-play! Try acting out the story or use puppets to retell the story. Raid the toy box for props to help tell a story. Dress up in a costume, wear a funny hat or create a mask to wear to tell the story.
- Making up silly words, sounds, actions to create humor!
- Try a variety of books: touch, push, pull tab books, on-line books and I spy books.
- Story based snack time! Try making a snack that relates to the story you just read or are about to read.
- Reading books on the computer. There are lots of on-line books available for adults and children to explore together. Many are packed with games and craft ideas to follow.
